PROPERTY DESCRIPTION

Imagine living in a home designed by Stanley J. How, the same architect who gave us the Desert Dome, the Lozier Professional Center and the shops at Legacy to name a few. How has designed a few special homes in Omaha and this is one of them. Located in the stately neighborhood of Leawood with mature trees and broad lawns, this home has the essence of Oriental simplicity of design with the warmth of Midwestern materials. With plenty of off street parking, family and friends enter through a gate into a lovely courtyard with an ornamental tree.

The front door is accented by two stained glass side windows. Opening the door the guest is immediately offered a view of the lovely backyard and pebbled patio. The living area pod is an open area capped by a walnut cathedral ceiling. The light-filled area has been newly painted and carpeted. The Living Room and Dining Room share a copper hooded fireplace. The dining room also has a built-in wetbar, cabinets and a unique gas grille for entertaining. The Kitchen is bright, functional with a generous pantry, walnut cabinets and a walk-out to the patio.

The bedroom pod has three bedrooms all with his and her closets. The second bedroom also has a built-in desk and overlooks the courtyard. The third bedroom is generously proportioned. The Master Suite has large closets and a marble sink. All rooms have new carpet and are freshly painted in soft, neutral colors.

The Lower Level is partially finished with an office and wine cellar. The third pod is the large 2-car garage. The pod design is unique and enhances the Oriental flavor of the home.
